THIS WEEK AT HOME

Being Born from Above

The conversation between Jesus and Nicodemus went to the very heart of Mosaic Law—how can one get right with God and enter into God's Kingdom? Jesus' answer was brief and startling, "no one can enter the kingdom of God without being born from above." This new birth of which Jesus spoke was the beginning of a spiritual birth, a new and radical birth in the Holy Spirit. How is the Spirit the active transforming agent at work in your life? Today's Readings: Acts 4:23–31; Psalm 2:1–3, 4–7a, 7b–9 (11d); John 3:1–8.

Relying on the Holy Spirit

The Hebrew word for "spirit" means both "wind" and "breath." We often hear and feel the wind, but we don't often know where it comes from. Likewise, we see the Holy Spirit at work in the lives of people. The Spirit is our guide who gives us strength to witness, spread, and defend the Gospel by word and action. Often, though, we do not seek the counsel of the Spirit. How can you make reliance on the Spirit part of your life? Today's Readings: Acts 4:32–37; Psalm 93:1ab, 1cd–2, 5 (1a); John 3:7b–15.

Seeing God in Others

In today's Gospel, we hear that God did not send his Son into the world to condemn it but to save it. As we seek to bring the Gospel to others, we must remember that it is not our job to condemn. We are rather, Pope Francis states in The Joy of the Gospel, "to see God in others and to go forth from ourselves to seek the good of others" (39). We need to be aware that our love for others radiates God's love. Today's Readings: Acts 5:17–26; Psalm 34:2–3, 4–5, 6–7, 8–9 (7a); John 3:16–21.

Living without Fear

During Easter Time, the First Reading is from the Acts of the Apostles, a book of the New Testament that tells of how the Apostles spread the Gospel. In today's reading, the Sanhedrin remind the Apostles that they already have been warned not to speak of Jesus' works. The Apostles' response shows that they will not back down, even though their lives may be at risk. It is obvious that they have heeded Christ's words and are not afraid. Today's Readings: Acts 5:27–33; Psalm 34:2 and 9, 17–18, 19–20 (7a); John 3:31–36.

Blessings in Abundance

We see in today's Gospel how God nourishes us in so many ways. The crowd that has followed him is bound to be hungry. Jesus knows that they want to hear from him, but he also knows that they need physical nourishment, too. He does not let them go hungry but provides so much food that twelve wicker baskets are left over. Do we sometimes think that God will give us only enough or do we realize the abundance of our blessings in him? Today's Readings: Acts 5:34–42; Psalm 27:1, 4, 13–14 (4abc); John 6:1–15.

Saturday, April 18, 2015

Do Not Be Afraid

Today's Gospel account tells of the Apostles being alone at sea in a storm and describes the situation as "dark." The Apostles were not only experiencing physical darkness but spiritual darkness as well. When Jesus appears to them, John tells us that the disciples were "terrified." But Jesus reassures them and calms the sea, saying, "It is I. Do not be afraid." When calamities or trials threaten to overwhelm us, how do we respond? Can we remember Christ's caution to the Apostles? Today's Readings: Acts 6:1–7; Psalm 33:1–2, 4–5, 18–19 (22); John 6:16–21.
